Craft Attends National Professional Certification Program

FORT PIERCE, Fla. (July 23, 2019) – The mission of the St. Lucie County tax collector’s office is to provide our neighbors the highest level of customer service through innovative technology and highly trained professionals while maintaining the public trust. In keeping with the mission of his office, St. Lucie County Tax Collector Chris Craft recently completed courses with the National Association of County Collectors, Treasurers and Finance Officers (NACCTFO) during their annual conference in Clark County, Nevada. The meeting included continuing education courses in policy and management offered by the Graduate Program in Public Administration at Wayne State University.

“In order to be effective at serving my community, I need to constantly be educating myself on best practices within the industry,” explained Craft. “Being a part of a nationwide organization like NACCTFO provides access to classes, as well as unparalleled opportunities to network with my colleagues from across the country.”

Session topics included talent retention, revenue recovery and trends in county government organization. Participants also engaged in an information sharing session where they shared best practices with their peers.

At the conference, Craft was also sworn in for his second year as secretary on NACCTFO’s executive board.
